HOUR OF POWER

The extracurricular program was assigned to after school. What is your opinion on that change?

I think with the programs after school causes more problems. Even though there are buses after school, some people still have to worry about rides. Other people will not be able to participate because some student's work after school. It was easier when we had long homeroom, so there are no worries about being late for work and there are more participants. Amy Kullmann.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

Speech and Debate students have formed a club which enables them to be ready at all times to present themselves as speakers or as readers and voice-actors with pizzazz. Courage, creativeness, and concentration are three demanding qualities evident in these club members. In return, such students get to participate in competition with students across the state. Rewards are friendships, a sense of a task well done, and the excitement of stepping forward to receive trophies for the best of labors. Because talk is not cheap, activities of this club include fun ways to create a treasury of distinction.

TITANIC
DEEP RISING

Did You Remember the Calculator? Marcellina Raulli and Heather Miranda are responsible for the entire business section. Although things seemed crazy at times, their hard work eventually paid off when everything was finished on time.

You are Sale-lebrities! Scott Guisinger, Katrinka Allen, Kelly LaLonde, Amy Kullman, and Zak Wutsch are the top five sales-people of the 1998 yearbook staff. They all sold over $300 each; combined they contributed more than $2000 to the yearbook funds. Congrats!

TIME IS MONEY

BUSINESS

Although our community is going through difficult economic times, the businesses in our area still came through for the De-O-Wain-Sta yearbook. A major portion of our funding comes from the business ads. Without their continual assistance, we would not be able to produce this book at a reasonable price. The yearbook staff would like to thank the local businesses for their loyal support of the RFA student body!

What Size Would You Like? One of our yearbook members, Amy Thayer uses her good salesman techniques to convince Bits-n-Bytes to buy a quarter page ad for our yearbook.

Congratulations, Greg.... You've achieved a long-strived for goal on the ladder of life... Not only graduating from high school but growing into the wonderful man that you are; gentle, strong, sensitive, loyal & caring... a man of integrity who can be confident that you've given your parents and all who love you every reason to be proud of & for you.
Hold on to your faith, dear son... in the craziness of this world, it's the only thing that isn't temporary.
We love you deeply... Always, Dad, Mom, Evan (& Sandy!)

John:

Don't think of graduation as an ending, but rather as a beginning... We are so proud of you. You should be proud of all of your accomplishments. We realize all the effort and hard work you have put into achieving your goals: personal, academic, and athletic. Can eighteen years really have passed from that special day we brought our baby home from the hospital to this year when that same boy is graduating from high school and will be leaving for college? How did you grow up so fast? We've watched you grow from a baby to a young man, and now we wonder where the time went. Your future lies ahead of you. It is full of promise and we hope and pray that all your prayers will be answered and all your dreams fulfilled. These are the best days of your life. Live them well! May God bless and protect you always.

Love,

Mom and Dad

Tara Hyatt - you are special ...

I don't ever want to forget what it was like before you or how it would be without you. I don't ever want to forget our first kiss or our last touch, or let a day go by without telling you I love you, and how much I need you. I don't ever want to doubt the way I feel or how much happier I am because of you. This kind of chemistry happens only once in a lifetime (Thanks Mr. Newman) ... and I know that I could never love another as much as I love you.

Congratulations and 'thank you' to an awesome yearbook staff.

Sign of the Times has provided us with a lifetime of great memories. You have been a joy to work with and should be very proud of the sensational yearbook that you have completed. It will be counted among RFA's best. We most certainly will miss this very talented, intelligent, resourceful, and personable group.

Best wishes for success and happiness,
Ms. Cataldo and Mr. Mazzaferro, Advisors

Invite Night

Thank you to everyone who helped and/or participated in Rome Free Academy's first INVITE NIGHT. It was a great way in which to showcase so many talented, intelligent, and involved students and teachers at our high school. Good things always start small. Hopefully, this worthwhile event will grow and eventually be appreciated by the entire school and community. Congratulations to the organizers: Mike Burgess, Abbey Burke, Beth Gallagher, Monica Haley, Jason McGill, Veronica Powers, Chris Voisin , Nancy Taylor-Schmidt, Anne Fanelli, and Susan Whitney.

A TIME TO REFLECT

As the '97-'98 school year comes to a close, reflection is one of the last steps before summer. We all take the time to remember what we've done, where we've been, and who's been there along the way. For the De-O-Wain-Sta Yearbook Staff, this journey has left us with memories and accomplishments. The time has come to remember. . .

In the summer of '97, the eight people who attended a seminar at MVCC's Utica Campus, including Mrs. Cataldo, piled into a small bus and brainstormed ideas on the way. Somehow as we traveled to Utica and drove around the campus, we got lost. Our bus driver had to take a pedestrian trail to get us to the opening assembly on time. At the seminar, we learned of yearbook planning techniques, got ideas of how to set up our yearbook, and what programs we could use on the computer. Needless to say, we had each eaten at least four helpings of pizza, four helpings of cookies and donuts, refreshed ourselves with numerous cans of soda (or coffee) and got to walk away with full stomachs and t-shirts large enough to fit two people. We never won anything with our raffle tickets, but we can all agree it was still a good experience.

Throughout the year, the committee's minds came together. From choosing layouts, pictures, writing captions and stories, and deciding how we wanted our yearbook to look. Deadline stress always added to the tension, especially when we realized we were far from finished.

Amidst the hard work were personal experiences which made the yearbook committee a collective team. Mrs. Cataldo's pastries, cookies and cake always helped us along -even if we had to wash it down with flat, warm Diet Coke. Pizza Hut became a field trip, and Fric 'n' Frac's our caterers to celebrate deadlines met. Selling ads wasn't always fun, but it felt good to sell a $100 ad and work towards getting a free yearbook. And which one is Zak, Mr. Mazz? Or is it Chris? We can't remember. Mr. Mazz, you helped us out a lot, but at times you seemed as confused as the rest of us!

Every member has their memories, the jokes that spread through the committee, and the stories that we still laugh at. Remembering the several parts that each person helped with or completed made being part of the 1998 De-O-Wain-Sta Staff memorable. . .

Heather Miranda- No one ever stereotyped, right? Right. And I never made any "I love Jonathan" signs.

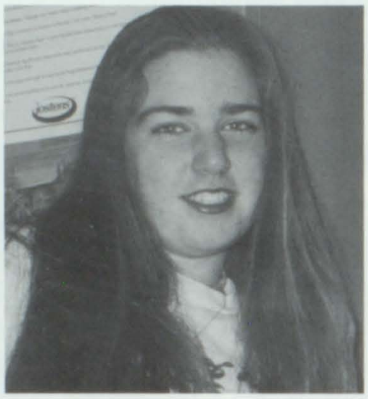
Chris Manzer- With all the typing I did in yearbook, this trusty computer became my new best friend.



Amy Kullmann- Why did we always lose our pages? Maybe if we had some Taco Bell we could have found them ...

Jessica Mondrick & Nicole Palma- "Jessica, did you want some of my ad money?" "No thanks, but I could have used your help on these pages."

Zachary Wutsch- Wanna go to Bradlees, Michele? By the way, Sarah Reynolds, nice "boots."

Kelly LaLonde- Why was I the only Junior in eighth period? ... I want him, Marcellina! ... Why do all of you have to leave? I'll miss you all!

Rebecca Piccola- Amy, I loved your toothpick. By the way, where is that film? Oh, Scott, shall we take another trip to the Sentinel?

Sarah Hapanowicz & Heather Cucura- "Sarah, why were you really looking in the directories?" "I was working! How about you, Heather?"

Katrinka Allen- World Beat Crew, thanks for all the help. (Amy-Rachael says, "Thanks, Kat.")

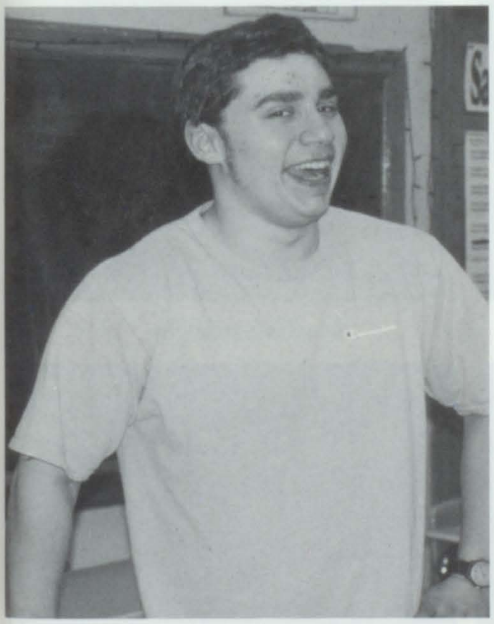
Renee Minkler- I would have liked to have had some Taco Bell with my business pages, please!

Samuel Esposito- What did I do? I worked with Chris, I typed, I arranged pages, I typed, I surfed the Web, I typed ...

Courtney Iacovissi & Crystal Marks- I suppose you could have called us "Partners in Crime." All that cropping and spell checking made us ... well, we won't go there.

Scott Guisinger- Miss those Red Oreos, Sandy? Man, they were good. They especially helped with the layouts I had to do over ... how many times? Oh, don't drop the computer!!!

Michele Knudsen- Get to work, "Yo Daddy!" And stop calling me Itchy! Zak, let's go to Bradlees.



Jared Feldman- Who could call me lazy? Boy, did I have fun working with Itchy, er ... Michele. Where would I be without you guys? Oh yeah, with my car.

Lanette Farmer- "Yo quiero Taco Bell." I seriously I wouldn't have been so stressed, if I had some Taco Bell ... and Tony's and Teddy's ...

World News

President Bill Clinton

First Lady Hillary Clinton

Mother Teresa

Benjamin Netanyahu

Yasser Arafat

Throughout 1997, there have been tragedies and triumphs. From the collective efforts of the U.S. and Russia to keep Mir a successful mission to the deaths of martyrs, the world has been through a lot. Bill Clinton, our re-elected President, kept troops fighting for Bosnia, then was forced to fight against sexual harrassment allegations. Mother Teresa helped people in poverty "see the light," and brought hope to millions in her lifetime. Princess Diana was "the peoples' princess", and the first person to hold an AIDS baby publicly. She was missed and mourned by the world. Madeline Albright is Secretary of State and continues to attempt keeping the peace over seas. Yasser Arafat helped keep the peace in the Middle East as part of the PLO. The Mir space station allows several different vehicles to dock together. (By the way, Mir means peace.) This will allow a space station to go into construction, hopefully, around the year 1999. Hillary Clinton is still being debated as the first female President, as she rules by her husband's side and takes charge of health care reform. "I am woman, hear me roar!" Montserrat was bombarded by an active volcano, burying thousands and leaving them homeless and lost. The Pathfinder helped Sojourner find its way on Mars. The Pathfinder landing craft was part of the gateway that helped Scientists on earth explore another planet's surface for the first time. United States Senator Fred Thompson put pressure on the President and the other democratic candidates, accusing them of campaign fund raising abuses. Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu had to halt peace proceedings indefinitely because of suicide bombings in Jerusalem. This American Style Israeli Prime Minister has been fighting militant groups since 1993. The year 1997 brought many different experiences world-wide. And for the most part, because of these events, the year 1997 will remain in the minds of millions. Now we just have to see what 1998 will bring us, or remember what it already has brought us.
